

Early Years Development Programme - an overview

DSUK's Early Years Development Programme (EYDP) provides your setting with 12-months access to our CPD-accredited training, resources and ongoing support.

Why choose DSUK's Early Years Development Programme?

- Expert-designed and expert-led - the programme includes content from specialists in education, speech and language, and health.
- Content is rigorously grounded in the scientific understanding of the learning needs of children with Down syndrome.
- Provides practical advice and information designed to improve outcomes.
- Trusted and used by hundreds of Early Years professionals across the UK, as well as local authority teams.

One payment of £200 provides:

- Access for all staff in your setting for 12 months.
- Unlimited online access to training and information which can be accessed flexibly at a time of your choosing.
- Ongoing online support – ask questions and connect with other settings.
- An extensive printed toolkit of recommended resources.

"Purchasing the Early Years Development Programme was one of the best things we did! This has opened up a world of knowledge for myself and the staff team here...

It has enabled us to partake in meaningful activities that are specifically targeted and age and stage appropriate for children with Down syndrome. Thank you for providing this programme which has enabled us to become even more inclusive."
